PARENT INVOLVEMENT

I tell you and you forget.
I show you and you remember.
I involve you and you understand.

- Eric Butterworth

Definition of Perseverance:
continuing in a course of action
without regard to discouragement, opposition or previous failure.

- September Newsletter
 - Our Back to School issue is ready for your reading pleasure.
 - List of Advanced Student Honor Roll!
- Parent Involvement
 - Your involvement is key to your child's success.
 - Grading your child's homework is your responsibility.
 - Making sure that corrections are done at home helps with:
 - Less time spent at the center
 - More time on new material
 - Move faster through the program
- September is Conference Month
 - If your child has been in the program for 3 months or longer, then a 1-on-1 conference with the Instructor is in order. Please call to schedule an appointment.
 - If you've had a conference before and want to receive the report only, please let us know.
- Challenges Ahead
 - Getting ready for school, homework and after school activities will present challenges ahead for some parents. Planning and prioritizing will come handy when you need to make some decisions.
